Financial History Review invites submissions of research papers from advanced PhD students and recent postdoctoral researchers (with less than five years from completing their PhD) in banking, financial and monetary history for a New Scholars Fast-Track Workshop to be held in Turin, Italy, on June 13, 2018. Papers on any topic and period are welcome. Co-authored papers are also eligible, provided that one of the authors meets the “new scholar” requirements.

The editors of FHR will make a preliminary selection based on standard academic criteria (relevance of the topic, potential contribution to the existing scholarship, originality). Authors of selected manuscripts will have the opportunity to discuss their paper with experienced scholars at the workshop. After the workshop, they will receive referee reports no later than July 15, 2018, and will be requested to resubmit a final version no later than September 30, 2018.

The New Scholars Fast-Track Workshop is supported by eabh (www.bankinghistory.org), Fondazione 1563 per l’Arte e la Cultura della Compagnia di San Paolo and Compagnia di San Paolo. Financial support will be available for travel and accommodation costs (best price economy flights and a two-night stay).

eabh supports research into all aspects of banking, insurance and financial history, from the earliest innovations in the Middle Ages, to developments since the Industrial Revolution and in the present. For more information on eabh, visit http://www.bankinghistory.org

FHR is the only economic history journal specialized in monetary and financial history. It is indexed in Clarivate's (formerly Thomson Reuters) ESCI (Emerging Sources Citation Index), as well as Econlit, Scopus, Ideas and RePEc, among others, and is widely read by economic historians, financial economists and practitioners. The review has a fast peer-reviewing process, a quick turnaround and an "Early View" facility that makes accepted papers available online as soon as they are typeset. For further information, please visit FHR's webpage: https://www.cambridge.org/core/journals/financial-history-review

Submission: Those interested should submit their paper and a short CV no later than April 30, 2018, to the editors of FHR, Stefano Battilossi (Carlos III Madrid) (battilos@clio.uc3m.es) and Rui Esteves (Oxford) (rui.esteves@economics.ox.ac.uk). When submitting, please include in the subject “FHR New Scholar Fast-Track”.
