

GDPR & Historical Archives

A financial archives workshop

4 November 2022
European Central Bank
Sonnemannstraße 20
Frankfurt am Main, Germany

eabh in cooperation with the European Central Bank (ECB)

What is new for historical archives under the GDPR regime? In particular in a Post-Covid environment?

This workshop aims to look at the impact of the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) on historical archives, in particular, but not exclusively, in the financial sector.

Since May 2018, the GDPR has set common standards of data protection within the European Union and, to a certain extent, beyond. This regulation received critical acclaim by the public and scholars alike, however not without facing wide criticism for the severity of the changes it requires to implement.

Programme

03 NOVEMBER 2022

18.00 Walk & Dine

with Reinhard Frost (Deutsche Bank Historical Institute)

The historic centre of Frankfurt am Main was destroyed during World War II. Only in 2018 the reconstruction of the heart of Germany's banking metropolis was finished as part of a mayor urban development project. Reinhard Frost is not only one of the chief archivists of Deutsche Bank, but also an experienced guide to the history of the city. He will guide us for a walk and share his insights of the old town's important history and its recent re-birth.
